The resume of a creative is a little different from other resumes. It is not as important for me to list "what I can do" as it is to see "what I have created". I like my work to speak for itself. I am listing my published book list, Client list as well as Show and gallery list. Please Google my name to see affiliations, news and events. No project is too small or too large for me to discuss. Let me know what you have in mind. The resume of a creative is a little different from other resumes. It is not as important for me to list "what I can do" as it is to see "what I have created". Nature's Sermon Through Abandon...

Summary

I am a full time, remote, "creative on demand"! I fill the needs of an onsite/ in house design department while based out of my studio. I have traditional skills as well as digital ability. As a commercial illustrator I work in any style or media necessary to meet the client's needs. A 27 year history of working as a creative on demand has helped me build an eclectic body of work that ranges from corporate, Mom and Pop Start Ups, Charities, Publishing, Manufacturing, Health Care, Education, Packaging, Entertainment, Oil Service Companies and more. I negotiate all projects up front. I ask my clients budget and that helps determine the style and detail the project can afford. I am happy to work per project, day rates or per hour. I graduated from San Diego State University and a decade later I became certified by the Advertising Arts College. I have been an independent illustrator, graphic designer as well as fine artist working professionally since 1985. I work in any style with any media. I work traditionally as well as digitally. I like my work and clients to speak for me. Fine Art

My work has been in Galleries and shows since the 80's. I continue to accept commissions of all kinds in any media.

Photoshop / Photo Manipulation

I continue to learn new tricks with Photoshop and photo manipulation. I use it for Actors and model promotions; create presentations, virtual products, even interior design to see what your colors look like before you paint. The application is endless with photo manipulation.

Logo Design,Graphic Design and Illustration

As a commercial illustrator I like to design a unique custom style for my clients. My body of work is eclectic. I listen to my clients and take what is in their head and put it on paper for them.

Books Illustration, Design and Production Art

I have been illustrating and preparing books since the days of ordering stats and typesetting. I use to plug in the waxer before the coffee pot in those days. Paste up and mechanical boards were our form of production - pre computer.

Cartoon Illustration

I vector my art in illustrator and at times pull them into Photoshop for some added touches. My cartoons can be seen in phone apps, web pages, books, games, licensed art, clothes, packaging, vehicle wraps, marketing material, on demand products, wall murals and catalogs to name a few applications.

Graphic Design

I have been a graphic designer since the days of wax and ruby. I transitioned to digital graphics in the mid 90's and have enjoyed the benefits of being able to design with old school and new principles and skills. I was certified in digital graphics by The Advertising Arts College. I learned in the first classes ever offered using graphics on PC. Prior, MAC was the only graphic choice. I wanted to be able to easily communicate with people in office environments who did not have access to creative departments.

Traditional Illustration / Art

I have a traditional art base with formal education in design.
